A GOOD MAN GOES TO HIS REWARD

At six o'clock Sunday evening, May 15, 1955, Right Reverend Monsignor Andrew J. Gmelch, 77 years of age, passed on to his final reward at Hotel Dieu, in New Orleans, where he had been for the past several months.

With the death of Father Gmelch, as he was familiarly and affectionately known to young and old, Catholic and non-Catholic, alike, the Parish of Our Lady of the Gulf loses one of its finest and best-loved pastors in its long history, dating from 1847 to the present day.

The Holy Scripture teaches us that "God made us to love Him and serve Him in this world, and to be happy with Him forever in the next." Father Gmelch lived up to these teachings in every respect. Certainly he loved his God, which he showed by devoting his life to the Holy priesthood, in which capacity he served from the day of his ordination, June 14, 1901 to the time of his death, nearly 54 years. And now that his earthly mission has been accomplished, we are sure that God will reward him with everlasting life and happiness in Heaven.

Father Gmelch was only the fourth pastor of the Parish of Our Lady of the Gulf, since its establishment on July 31, 1847, when Rev. Louis Stanislaus Mary Buteux was named its first pastor by Bishop John Mary Joseph Chanche, the first Bishop of the Diocese of Natchez, which itself was established July 28, 1837. Rev Buteux was succeeded by Rev. Henry LeDue in 1859, and he in turn was succeeded by Rev. John M. Prendergast, in 1897. Rev. Prendergast served until June 1918, when Father Gmelch was appointed by the late Bishop Gunn.

There is no doubt that this parish has been fortunate in having such wonderful and pious men as its pastors, and Father Gmelch lived up to the high ideals of his predecessors in every way.

He worked hard and earnestly among the members of his congregation teaching them the true meaning of the three virtues of Faith, Hope and Charity. He loved the children of the parish and worked unceasingly and untiringly for their spiritual and physical benefit.

He took great pride in his church and in 1947 had it practically rebuilt into the beautiful and imposing edifice it is today, a monument to the memory of a man who knew not the meaning of the word "quit."

Father Gmelch was a good man, a pious man, a man who not only taught the Christian word but who lived it—every day of his life.

Although he had been ill intermittently for the last couple of years, Father Gmelch refused to give up and attended his duties and took his turn on the altar, as often as his physical strength would allow. I often against the advice of his physicians, until several months ago when he was taken to a New Orleans hospital where he died, still wanting to come home" to his beloved Bay St. Louis.

In conclusion, we say, "May he rest in peace, and may his soul and all the souls of the faithful departed, through the Mercy of God, rest in peace."

SET DEATH DATE FOR NEGRO IN HANCOCK SLAYING

The State Supreme Court Monday set June 28 as the date for execution of Mack C. Lewis, Negro serviceman from Buffalo, N.Y., for murdering a New Orleans policeman.

The action came after the US Supreme Court refused to hear Lewis' appeal of his conviction and death sentence. His appeal postponed his death several months.

Lewis, a Negro soldier stationed at Fort Bliss, Tex., killed Kenneth L. Mason, a salesman who gave Lewis a ride eastward from New Orleans.

The salesman was slain in a lonely road in Hancey, near the Louisiana boundary.

Lewis drove Mason's car to Petersburg, Va., where he was arrested for a traffic violation.

Lewis first denied killing Mason, then led officers to the death spot and described the slaying.

Gulf's Goodman, State Oil Leader, Retires at Houston

J. T. GOODMAN

JACKSON, Miss. (Special)—J. T. Goodman, widely known in Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas oil industry circles as "Colonel Goodman," retires this month after 36 years' active service with the Gulf Oil Corporation and the Gulf Refining Company.

Formerly head of the Gulf production offices in Shreveport, which for many years coordinated the company's drilling and production operations in Mississippi, Col. Goodman has worked out of Gulf's Houston headquarters for the past 18 months.

In addition to his position as Divisional Landman, J. T. Goodman represented the Gulf organization in its public relations and civic enterprises. He helped to organize the Mississippi-Alabama Division of the Mid Continent Oil and Gas Association at Jackson in 1944, and for many years served as a director of the association's Louisiana-Arkansas Division.

Gulfman earned his colonelcy during the first World War when he commanded the 141st Regiment, 36th Infantry Division. He joined Gulf's Scouting and Leasing Department shortly after his discharge from military service in 1919.

Col. Goodman is a veteran of many oil "booms." When the first great East Texas Oil Field was discovered, Goodman and an associate acquired for Gulf leases on thousands of acres simply by giving their word or penciling in an area on a map. Farmers and other landowners soon learned that agreements arrived at with Col. Joe Goodman could be counted on, even though it might take weeks to complete the legal papers involved.

Kent Sellier and Hilda Russell

'MR. AND MISS BAY HIGH' SENIORS, SHOW SURPRISE OVER NEW HONORS

Hilda Russell and Kent Sellier, Mississippi, February 20, 1937, seniors, have been elected Miss He has lived here all his life and Mr. Bay High by an election of the high school student body.

When Hilda received the news, she was so surprised she didn't say anything. She sat where she was with a blank look on her face.

Hilda was born in Waveland, Mississippi, on June 20, 1936. She has lived there all her life except for six years in New Orleans, Louisiana.

The hobbies that keep Hilda busy are collecting china cups, gardening and raising cats. She enjoys watching baseball and football games and loves to swim.

Hilda has been going to Bay High for four years during which she was chosen as Outstanding Sophomore and Junior Girl and represented Bay High at Girls' State last summer. Her ambition is to go to Mississippi Southern College and play football. MSC has awarded this six foot one inch athletic star with a full football scholarship.

Kent's hazel eyes, brownish black hair and friendly disposition make him well liked by his fellow classmates.

Mr. Bay High's favorite subjects are: algebra, history and science.

He likes them the best because they are the most enjoyable and interesting.

Kent has been very active in school activities, especially football and basketball. He was chosen as Outstanding Freshman and Junior Boy, represented Bay High at Boys' State last summer and has held the office of presidency of his class for three straight years.

Swimming, football, basketball and boxing are Kent's hobbies. The thing he especially likes to do is going to the country with Billy Breland. His favorite song is "Blew With Me Henry."

"My aim in life," stated Kent, "is to have a job with a good income."

Kent said he likes all his teachers because of the encouragement they have given him and the patience each one possesses.

Kent stated, "Going to college is going to be a thrilling experience. I know I will like it because I have two brothers and many friends at MSC."

Upon concluding the interview Kent stated, "I've enjoyed every day at Bay High."

INDUSTRIES, SCHOOLS AND BETTER FARMING ARE STATE NEEDS

More industries, better schools and better farming—in the order listed are the three most important needs of the average Mississippian.

That's the opinion of business, industrial and government leaders attending the Mississippi Economic Council's series of 12 area development forums across the state recently. The Home Science Research Center of State College conducted an attitude survey by questionnaire of those attending the forums.

One of the problems of new communities, listed according to percentage of members, are: improved recreation facilities, community spirit, roads and sewerage, improved community center, roads, parking and traffic, and city government.

It is responsible for industrial development? Most of those surveyed listed the local chamber of commerce. Ranking second and third were cooperating groups and social committees, respectively.

Who is responsible for improving schools? The majority of replies put the responsibility on school boards, while cooperating groups and city government were listed in second and third places.

As to better farming, the greater percentage said the responsibility rested with agricultural agencies. Cooperating groups and development clubs were listed in second and third places.

City government was seen to have greater responsibility for developing recreation facilities, with civic clubs and cooperating groups coming next in the order named.

The greatest concern over industrial development was expressed by citizens living in communities with a population between 1,000 and 4,999. Communities under 1,000 and between 5,000 and 19,999, industry, schools, recreation, community centers, community spirit and better farming.

In cities between 1,000 and 4,999, industry, schools, better farming, water and sewerage, recreation and community spirit, in communities under 1,000, better farming, industry, schools, community spirit and rural roads.

STENNIS AMENDMENT PROVIDES $40,000 FOR HOME EC RESEARCH

An amendment to the Agriculture appropriation Bill adopted on the floor of the Senate at the request of US Senator John Stennis provides for an increase of $40,000 to expand Home Economics Research.

Senator Stennis, in commenting on this amendment, said:

"My amendment is designed primarily to correct recent shifts in the Department of Agriculture which has made in the Home Economics Research Program, changes which would seriously effect this important program.

"I am in complete agreement that research is needed for nutrition and its effects on diets. But, research on home equipment, clothing and other household research should not be completely eliminated."

Senator Stennis in his statement on the Senate Floor also recommended that the Department of Agriculture establish an Advisory Committee on Home Economics Research to determine important areas where Home Economics research was needed and to what extent home-making publications should be made available.

This committee would have equal status with some 25 other Advisory Groups already established to advise the Secretary of Agriculture on many important phases of Agriculture Research.

Senator Stennis emphasized the important contribution that Home Economics Research is making for a happier way of life for our farm people and the fine achievements being made by the Home Economics Program in Mississippi. "My amendment would provide additional appropriations to permit the continuation of important Home Economics Research and the issuance of important research publications. I hope my amendment will be accepted by the Conference Committee," the Senator concluded.

- 2 Miss 20 of your favorite half-hour television programs. (You'll miss several evenings of pleasant entertainment but you'll save ten cents' worth of electricity.)
- 3 Don't iron Dad's shirts for a month. (He'll be unhappy about the wrinkles but you'll save ten cents on 25 shirts.)
- 4 Hand-scrub 30 tubs of laundry. (Your clothes will be dingy and your back will ache but you'll save ten cents' worth of electricity.)
- 5 Don't let Dad use the lamp by his easy chair for a couple of weeks. (You can buy him a candle with the ten cents you save on the cost of burning a 100-watt bulb for 30 full hours.)

When you compare convenience with cost, don't you agree that the pennies you spend for electricity give you more for your money than anything in your family budget?

LEONARD DISTRICT TO HOLD MEETING IN GULFPORT, MAY 22

GULFPORT - The new 11th District of the American Legion will hold a convention in Gulfport Sunday, May 22, at 1 p.m. at the Gulfport Post home, it was announced today by C. D. (Dous) Guley, Southern Department Vice-Commander.

The district is composed of Legion posts in Hancock, Forrest, George, Harrison, Jackson, Lamar, Marion, Pearl River and Stone counties.

Purpose of the convention will be primarily to select District officials for the coming year, Commander Guley said.

Under the reorganization plan that will go into effect at the close of the 1955 Department Convention, the number of districts will be cut from 18 to 11, and each district will have its own executive committee made up of elective district officials and each district will operate as a small department, according to Guley.

Candidates for Department Offices will be presented at these district conventions and given a chance to speak, Guley stated. "It is imperative that each Post be represented at these conventions," Guley concluded.

HORN FLIES

Have you put up your homemade backrubber yet? Maybe you wonder where would be a good place to put it. Several suggestions for placing the backrubber are:

Place it near your mineral box as saltacks make frequent visits there. Another good place is under shade trees where the animals loaf. Near the stock pond is another good place. Other places to locate the back rubbers are under side sheds or loading sheds or just out in pastures.

The homemade backrubber offers a good method of controlling horn flies without having to round up the cattle, pen and spray them. It can be made out of scrap materials. All you will need is barbed wire, old sacks and baling twine. Here is how:

String three strands of barbed wire together and tie with twine. Then wrap an old sack and tie every six inches with twine. You can use old baling wire to attach the back rubber to posts or trees.

Be sure to allow enough "sag" in the backrubber to permit the animals to get it over their backs, and also on the undersides. Materials to use on the backrubber include DDT or methoxychlor. On dairy cattle use only methoxychlor. County Agents have detailed instructions for making a backrubber and treating it with insecticide. It will cost only about $2 to weep the backrubber saturated with insecticide for the eight months fly season.

SORGHUM FOR SILAGE

Now is a good time to plant sorghum for silage. Make sure that all grass and weeds are destroyed by disking or harrowing the land. Plant on a firm seed bed so that the ground will not be dried out under the seed, which would keep the seed from germinating.

Put down your fertilizer for sorghum the day you plant the sorghum. Don't just buy any kind of seed marked sorghum. Study the tag on the sack and be sure that you are getting a sorghum that is good for silage. Don't be one of the many farmers who thought they were buying sorghum for silage, but found that they had a small growing variety. This is both disappointing and expensive.

SWEET POTATOES

Make plans to get your sweet potato crop planted by June 1. You should apply your fertilizer now for June 1 plantings. Use 600 to 1,000 pounds per acre of 6-8-8 fertilizer, or equivalent. It needs to be in the soil a few days before setting plants.

REA ANNIVERSARY

On May 11 the Rural Electrification Administration, which has been created by the return of nearly $10 million dollars ahead of schedule. Only about $107,000 in loan payments was overdue more than 90 days.

In other words, less than 1/10 of 1 per cent of payments were late or delinquent - a record across the years that I doubt can be matched in any area in the history of American banking.

Moreover, as most of my people know, I am a thorough believer in the doctrine of individual initiative and private enterprise as opposed to Government in business. But here is a case where private enterprise would not do the job required.

Private capital would not venture into this field although there was a great need therefor. In 1935 only 11 farms out of every 100 in America had electric power. Today, after 20 years of REA, more than 92 out of every 100 farms enjoy the privileges of electricity.

The REA has been responsible for the extension of electricity to more than half of these farms. Possibly no section has benefited from this blessing more than the State of Mississippi. When REA appeared on the scene there was less than 1 per cent of the farms in Mississippi served with electric power. Today, after two decades of REA, the number of farms served has increased to more than 85 per cent. It is also gratifying to note that South Mississippi, our Congressional District, leads all other sections of Mississippi in the number of farms enjoying the benefits of electricity.

In these modern days when America is in a death fight with the foreign pagan ideology of Communism; when the Communists are busily engaged in an attempt to conquer the world, not by force of arms, but through a crusade of selling this destructive idea to the people of the world; when they are making great progress through infiltration in our great cities, it is comforting to note that our rural peoples are still the bulwark of and rapid sheet lightning in the principal residence.

A crusade against nature's law and principal payments has been created by the return of nearly $10 million dollars ahead of schedule. Only about $107,000 in loan payments was overdue more than 90 days.

In other words, less than 1/10 of 1 per cent of payments were late or delinquent - a record across the years that I doubt can be matched in any area in the history of American banking.

Today, after two decades of REA, the number of farms served has increased to more than 85 per cent. It is also gratifying to note that South Mississippi, our Congressional District, leads all other sections of Mississippi in the number of farms enjoying the benefits of electricity.

In these modern days when America is in a death fight with the foreign pagan ideology of Communism; when the Communists are busily engaged in an attempt to conquer the world, not by force of arms, but through a crusade of selling this destructive idea to the people of the world; when they are making great progress through infiltration in our great cities, it is comforting to note that our rural peoples are still the bulwark of the freedom and democracy that we hold dear.

Why Southern Bell Cannot Surrender To An Arbitrator Its Responsibility For A Vital Public Service

For weeks now, officials of the CWA Union have been maneuvering to get the issues in the Telephone Strike turned over to an arbitrator for settlement.

There should be no misunderstanding about what this kind of settlement would mean.

It would mean that a third party would be called in to write a whole new union-management contract—a contract that involves every aspect of this business.

His decisions would be final and Southern Bell would be committed, in advance, to accept them, regardless of their effect on the cost and quality of telephone service, on the job security and job opportunities of telephone employees.

WE ARE NOT WILLING TO SUBJECT THIS VITAL PUBLIC SERVICE TO SO GRAVE A RISK

In the telephone strike, arbitration of the whole dispute, undoubtedly, would create more problems than it would solve.
PROPERLY APPLIED ARBITRATION IS OFTEN A USEFUL TOOL

It has had an important place in our relations with the Union for many years. In current bargaining, we have offered to expand its use as a means of settling DIFFERENCES THAT ARISE UNDER THE NEW CONTRACT ONCE IT IS SIGNED.

In fact, practically EVERY provision of the new contract proposed by the company is subject to arbitration.

Let there be no misunderstanding then about Southern Bell's position on the PRINCIPLE of Arbitration.

On the other hand, arbitration can be taken to extremes. When it is proposed, or instance, as a means for settling fundamental company policy matters—such as a whole new labor contract—it undermines the effective management of the business.

It also invites serious risks that could do great harm to the financial integrity of the business.

The basic principle involved is that Southern Bell, which is charged with the sole responsibility for telephone communications in the area it serves, cannot surrender that responsibility to others.

Our obligation for service UNDER THE LAW cannot be delegated.

In the telephone strike, arbitration would be just another form of compromise. The real issue at stake is the no-strike clause to assure continuous service to the public while the new contract is in effect. CERTAINLY THE PUBLIC'S RIGHT TO CONTINUOUS SERVICE SHOULD NOT BE SUBJECT TO COMPROMISE.

THREE QUARTERS OF CENTURY OF SERVICE TO THE SOUTH

Southern Bell has been privileged to serve the South for 75 years. It does not take lightly its responsibility for providing this necessary service.

The company pays good wages and in current bargaining has offered to make them better. The telephone pension and benefit plan long has been a model for other companies. It has been in effect since 1913.

Working conditions are second to none in all industry. We have offered many improvements in our labor contract and have accepted many union proposals.

Including all the changes we have proposed, the costs of providing telephone service would be increased by more than $7,000,000 a year under the new contract.

We are willing to guarantee these wages and working conditions. In return, all we ask of union leaders is that they accept their responsibility for agreeing to protect the public against quickie strikes FOR THE LIFE OF THE CONTRACT.

This they refuse to do on any reasonable basis. They say in effect, "We will take all you have offered and then we want an arbitrator to come in and decide how much MORE we can get." It is this attitude that is prolonging the strike.
